An aerospace engineer and architect who has long history of analyzing UFO phenomena, Leonard Cramp has concluded that UFOs utilize the highest possible science in order to move the way they do. He theorizes that this superscience -- described in detail in the book -- can lift mankind into a new level of technology, transportation and understanding of the larger universe. In this highly technical examination, Cramp takes a close look at gravity control, time travel, the interlocking web of energy between all planets in our solar system, and a host of other cutting-edge material. Heavily illustrated, the book take readers on a fantastic voyage to a fantastic future
